Video Pitch Instruction

INTERNATIONAL ACADEMIC RESEARCH COMPETITION

Your design or pitch can include anything, including videos. Just make sure to begin with the following information so that anyone can understand your profile: Research Title, Scholar Name, Institution Name, Country Name, and Submitting for: IARCO Year. For Example: IARCO 2026

Research Title: Hosting IARCO 202

Scholar Name: Sanaul Haque

Institution: YRJ High School

Category: Junior

Country: United States of America

Submitting: IARCO 2026

Your full video should include a white watermark at the bottom left corner of the content. Do not use AI-generated voices, copyrighted video clips, or background music. For reference, you can watch the IARCO Symposium as an example.

You should ensure that your video is in MP4 or MKV format and that the audio works properly.

No modifications can be made after submission. If your presentation video does not play or function properly, your submission will be unlisted.

Use white text for your details so it acts as a watermark.

Video Pitch Submission Guidelines:

Video Pitch Submission Guidelines:

- Don't use any logo at the top right corner throughout the entire video.
- Max Video Duration: 5 Minutes.
- Use of AI-generated voices is strictly prohibited and will result in disqualification without prior notice.
- You can not use any institution logo or your professor's name and submit your thesis project on proposal or video pitch slides and will be disqualified without prior notice.
- Using explicit medical images (for example, blood/red or real organs) is forbidden.
- You must blur them or use different colors, such as green or blue, to present the project.
- Do not use copyrighted music. Showing your face is encouraged but not mandatory.
- You may use OBS Studio (free software) for screen recording and voice capture.
- Always verify audio quality before submitting.
- The first slide of your presentation must include: Your full name, institution name, class/grade, date, & country.
- You must clearly state verbally in your video that you are submitting your pitch to IARCO Year.
- The finalists video pitches will be published through our public media channels.
- You are authorized for this use only and may not distribute the content elsewhere.
- IARCO retains full copyright of all submitted materials. All research proposals and videos will be archived; however, only the Finalists from each category will be made publicly accessible.

Research Proposal and Video Pitch Submission Guidelines

When submitting your Video Pitch along with your revised Research Proposal, please review the following important updates and guidelines:

Research Proposal Updates We have accepted many proposals that showed strong core ideas despite significant formatting errors. Common issues included inconsistent citation styles, incorrect structural ordering, missing cover letters, and the inclusion of mentor or professor names. Please remove all mentor, professor, and advisor names from your documents to ensure an unbiased review.

Use this final opportunity to thoroughly review our guidelines, adopt the official IARCO citation style, and submit your fully updated, standardized Research Proposal alongside your Video Pitch. You may refine and update any section of your proposal in accordance with the official rubrics, but you cannot change your underlying research project or topic.

From these resubmissions, we will select the top candidates to move forward. Winners and finalists will be featured on our official Winners Page and awarded official Achievement Certificates. Because our primary mission is educational and many exceptional submissions were received, we have expanded our selection pool to 50+ per submission based on overall content quality.

Video Pitch Expectations

The Video Pitch is a creative deliverable. You have creative freedom in how you present your project, provided you strictly align with the requirements in the Video Pitch Rubric.

Strict Protocol and Support Policies

- No Manual Profile or Title Edits: We cannot process email requests to alter your submitted titles, personal details, or submission materials. All data is processed systematically through our submission according to fixed protocols, and no single individual can bypass these procedures.
- Deadlines and Timelines: Registration requires full adherence to all scheduled deadlines. We are unable to grant deadline extensions under any circumstances. Our event is planned annually, and our judges, mentors, professors, and hosts allocate their time around this fixed schedule.
- Professional Communication: Missing a deadline does not justify inappropriate or abusive behavior toward organizers, mentors, or staff. If you miss a deadline or require clarification, it is your responsibility to contact support promptly before the cutoff date.

Thank You!
